SENIOR ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Senior Advisory Council is made up of the Senior Class Officers and one elected representative from each Senior homeroom.

The Promenade in the boys' gymnasium comprised the major activity of the Council. The members of the advisory committees were appointed to care for all the details that are involved in planning for this social affair. Lighted winter scenes were placed at intervals around the festooned room of scarlet and blue. Mother of pearl pendants with blue M's were given as favors to the girls while small blue M pins were chosen for the boys. Jack Sarty supplied the exceptionally good music. Our Prom, although held on a very stormy night, was a great success.

The Council also took part in aiding the class with its Senior Play, by sponsoring the sale of candy, and by advertising.

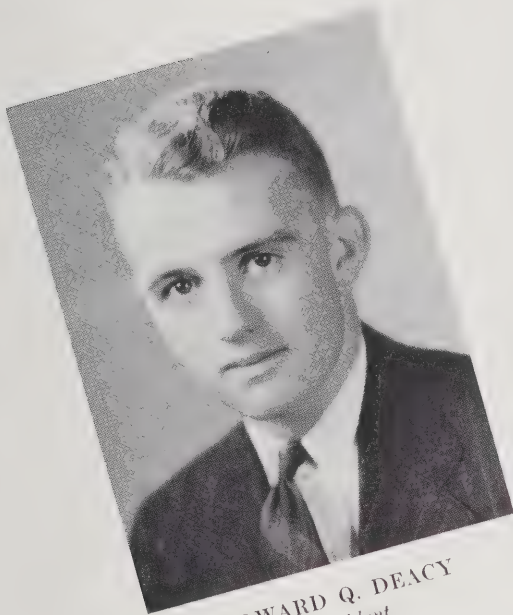

In June, at both Class Day and Graduation, the Council has its numerous responsibilities.

The Senior Advisory Council worked under the able guidance of both Miss Katherine L. Baker and Mr. Eric Harrison.

Class History

Our brief years at Medford High
We've divided into sections three:
Athletics, scholastics, and fun.

ATHLETICS

In thirty-eight our athletes we first cheered
On football fields as Mustangs newly-named;
With music from our top-notch band,
The high school songs rang clear to help the fight.
The Malden game, though tied, inspired the day
When Medford's team would beat that foe of old.
Improving quickly in their practice drills,
The boys next year began the season well
Winning almost every game.
Our team tied only once, with Everett's squad,
Though lowly Newton almost broke our streak.
In rallies and with cheering loud,
We urged our boys to do their very best
To beat weak Malden, uphold our pride,
And break that jinx we laugh at now;
But no, our struggling boys were held
By tactics of defense.
Then, near Malden's goal, an interception!
Their center scooted past our men.
And scored the points that lost that game.
But still another year remained
For us to win.
Of course you know last season's woeful tale
As Medford could not seem to win those games
But even those defeats were not too bad

Our Junior Class Officers

For color, music, and friendship all
 Combined to make the games more fun
 One day, when all was going fine
 A frisky pup, with tail and tongue uplifted to the sky
 Bounded with joy across the field of play
 Trying to stop the seeming senseless fray,
 Yipped with great glee when toward him came
 A burly ump to help him in his quest.
 Around and around they ran until
 O great despair! the fuming ump
 Yelled angrily and chased him from the field.
 Aside from things of little consequence
 Our team fared badly in their many games
 As injuries to players at the start
 Those rising hopes did turn into despair
 One feat alone remained that could redeem
 Our team and make them heroes all.
 But whipping Malden was so far away;
 That twelve year jinx seemed destined to remain.
 Thus dawned Turkey Day so crisp and clear,
 Though loyal Medford fans felt quite dismayed
 As rival backs scored early in the game.
 But let them have their touchdown!
 For soon a scoring force was loosed for us.
 The Mustangs, charging that weak Malden line
 At once made the six points which tied the score.
 Then our fine team again went o'er the line.
 Did Medford's stands go wild?
 The band played loud but was not heard,
 For screaming, hysterical cheers rang forth
 This lead proclaimed the long-hoped victory.
 From then, inspired, our team pushed hard the foe
 All o'er the field, and even scored again.
 Gone was the jinx!
 And never would a feat seem quite so sweet!
 But football only would not be enough,
 For back two years our baseball team of fame

Our Sophomore Class Officers

Was champion in its own respective league,
The boys beat every other baseball crew
That tried to stop them in their victory quest,
And finally but one more group remained
In all the state that had not seen defeat
But even though they did not beat that nine,
The Mustangs showed by valor and by skill
That they were champions of the highest grade,
And every year we felt a welcome thrill
As our fine team wound up the season well.
And now a word for girls' athletics too,
Though their games are not so wild and rough
These fair ones beat the boys in bowling twice,
Jean Nyman true and versatile Frannie McNeill
In softball shone, while Betty Lordon skilled
Led girls' basketball to but one loss.
Ann Oxnard starred in playing tennis,
Mae Murray and Margaret King field hockey played,
While all the girls in riding took great pride.
Returning now to manly games on ice,
We find our hockey team with spirit strong,
Although they lost a few games here and there.
In basketball, with Captain Remo Vinci,
The thrill of action filled our grand new gym,
As fans enjoyed this lightning game of wits.
And thus our athletes bold and great
Pursued the games we loved to watch them play;
They built their bodies strong and straight
So too their innermost minds were formed while young,
With thoughts of sportsmanship and fair play.
We sure all know the value of these games.
Astraining in the huge tasks that lie ahead of us
Besides our books in the great tasks ahead,
For many military leaders great
And honored men in every field of life
First found themselves and strengthened character
By playing in some sport of give and take.

Thompson Irwin

SCHOLASTICS

Enough of sports, and those who won acclaim.
My legend is a tale of students bright
Who won scholastic honors by the score.
We sophomores with bewildered looks and stares
With joy and fear, entered our Medford High,
Thinking in terms of fun and sports, not work.
It was not long, we found, before we settled down

To show our teachers that we with one accord
Could study anything they offered us.
The college students mastered French and Math.
Commercial groups had one idea in mind—
To build for a sound future business life.
One day we put aside our books and pads
Just long enough to organize our class,
And age old custom, worn, but still in use.
We looked around for candidates of worth
Who would represent us most graciously.
William Anderson, a quiet, stalwart lad
Accepted the post of leadership that year.
Barbara Carnes, a bright and cheery soul,
For Barbara will do much to drive dull cares away,
We choose as vice to aid our own dear Will.
Tom McDevitt, that likeable lad, we know so well
Soon found that being treasurer was an easy task
For we, the sophs, possessed but little wealth.
Helen Austin with manner sweet and dear
Fulfilled her numerous duties with much zeal.
And here, I feel, that I should pause to say
That we that first year did work hard in school.
Our study, though, had paid its price in golden worth
For we with pride and joy had reached the top.
Seventeen students, with minds alert and keen,
Had attained highest honors for their first year.
Our junior year we welcomed with much cheer,
For we as beginners had set our goal.
To study we did soon affix our minds
Feeling that we should without question be,
The finest graduating class of Medford High.
Our officers that year were a fine choice,
Dave Johnston, able, apt, and truly fine
With Sylvia Tobey that happy little girl,
Frank Collins eager and always sincere,
And last our own sage classmate Dottie King.
Each year it is our custom here at Medford High
To turn our thoughts to better, clearer speech
When we a public speaking contest hold.
Within our ranks we had a winner too
When Nancy Dawe won honors for our class.
Before the year was over, honors due
Came to our worthwhile group again.
Six girls, Concetta Addonizio
With Madeline Brownlie and Marie Bruno too,
Anny Syarse, Helen Hoffman, and Susanna
Wilson were added to our scroll.
Two boys, Paul Crimmings and James Fallon
Completed those who finally gained renown.
At last the long awaited time had come

When we as upper classmen took our place,
With Quinny Deacy as our modest chief
Supported by those three efficient aides
Barb Carnes, Ray Lannon, and Pauline McCarthy.
It was not, though, until our senior year
That the full value of scholastics came to us,
For to that time our teachers made the path for us.
But now, that business life which seemed so far away
Loomed before us in a great array of color.
We realized then that we were about to begin
On a big adventure so new to all of us.
Such eagerness we never knew before;
And yet, within our hearts a sorrow reigned.
At once our thoughts returned to that first year
When we had entered dear old Medford High.
Now we were standing, as some of us felt,
On the threshold of life's open door.

F U N

Let others have their books and sport
Which schools do all commend,
For me I'd rather dance and play
Than master verbs and nouns all day.
The teachers say a book a day
Is vital and worthwhile,
My motto is to do and say
All in a free and easy style.
It seems to me that life should be
A joy and not a task,
That each succeeding day should bring
To eye, some new and joyous thing.
So did we do in M. H. S.
In joyous hall—in class—at mess
Together we made fun and joy
As one we were—each girl and boy.
In full swing now
To add more fun,
We planned a dance for everyone.
Success so quick in this endeavor
Spurred us on to greater doings;
A dance, a hop, a get-together—
Our first year passed as if on wings
Yet —
Did we, as juniors
Lose our smile,
In time, did we grow staid?

Had we forgotten former style,
Were fun and gaiety mislaid?
But no, we did not change with time
Our laughter was the same
Our wit and humor from all sides
Brought ever joy and endless fame.
The faculty had tried in vain,
Since they deemed it prudence
To make of us, at least in part,
Wise—and rather successful students.
We did, in turn, make slight attempt
To yield, at least in form,
To make them think we'd mend our ways,
To think, in truth, that study pays.
Meanwhile, we passed our time
At football games and such
To win was joy; to lose, distress,
But it didn't daunt us much.
I'll take time out to mention here,
Our fun with music year on year.
The festival is the biggest thing
But truthfully, we favor swing!
The loud sweet notes of a hot swing band,
The classic "jump and jive,"
The rhythm of the jungle land—
On these we really thrive.
We tried our hand at acting, too,
At grease paint and bright lights,
We weren't so bad at this new fad,
Our play ran two successful nights.
And now my tale is almost done,
There's little else to tell
Just one more thing—our last big fling
Which on the eve of class day fell.
Last night we danced in gayest mood,
Our last good fun together.
Reception time though gay and bright
Bring sombre thoughts as we endeavor . . .

Henceforth, as singly we go on our way,
Each seeking his own path from lessons learned
On football field, in classroom work, and while at play.
We, the Class of '41, here promise
That we shall ever strive to make our mark in life,
To justify your confidence.
To each and every one of you we give our thanks.

The Senior Prom

It was seven o'clock on the morning of the Senior Prom. The sound of fire bells pierced the snowy air, proclaiming to all, "No School!" Seven hundred of the Medford High Seniors settled back peacefully on their pillows to finish their nocturnal dreams. But forty others, the conscientious prom committee, donned rubber boots and snowshoes, and trekked to the gym. What could have been more ideal than an entire day in which to move chairs, rehearse ushers, and attend to last minute details? It is hard to say now which the committee enjoyed more, the preparations or the prom itself.

At last eight o'clock arrived. Gay strains of music from Jack Sarty's popular band greeted the couples as they entered the gym, the girls in stunning gowns, and their escorts handsome in tuxedos. Everyone exclaimed over the unusual decorations which completely transformed the familiar hall. Through the window-like openings in the crimson walls, colorful figures appeared to be skiing. It was a brilliant scene.

Arriving at the receiving line, the couples were greeted by class president Edward Deacy and Helen Doyle, Headmaster and Mrs. Ralph L. Kendall, Miss Irene M. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ricker, and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Prior.

Then came the main event of the evening—the Grand March. Couples joined couples, making fours and eights. Miss Katherine L. Baker, the class adviser, beamed approval, and Mr. Vantine's representative aimed his camera at those in the lead. What handsome class officers! But no! Those eight in the first line were not the officers. Where could they be? Modestly they emerged from the eleventh row and soon the photographer directed his camera on Edward Deacy and Helen Doyle, Barbara Carnes and Robert Pound, Raymond Lannon and Pauline McCarthy. All was well.

The lucky couples who remained at the prom until eleven-thirty received attractive favors, mother-of-pearl lockets for the girls, and "M" pins for the boys. Everyone danced happily until twelve o'clock when the strains of a sweet-sounding waltz brought a most successful evening to a close.

The Senior Class extends its sincere thanks to Advisers Miss Katherine L. Baker and Mr. Eric Harrison for their unceasing efforts to make the prom a gala affair.

Senior Class

On March 25 and 26 the Class of 1941 presented A Tailor-Made Man, a comedy in four acts by Harry James Smith, directed by Messrs. Ricker and Carey. The play was selected because of many demands for a repeat performance by members of the cast of the Dramatic Club presentation of 1924. Inasmuch as the play was adaptable to the present day, the advisers selected it for the vehicle.

The leading man, a particularly long and difficult part, was very ably portrayed by Jerome Guarino. Clever and sincere, he masterfully held his audience. Kathleen Murphy, as his leading lady, was charming and sweet. Irene Torrey played the society matron in a most convincing manner; her daughter, Concetta Addonizio, did an exceedingly good job.

Two particularly hilarious roles were effectively filled by Aurelio Codimachio and Thomas McDevitt in the tailor's assistant and the harassed, social-climbing Englishman.

David Johnston endeared himself to his audiences in the role of Mr. Huber; he produced a very thorough character.

Lee Andruss left nothing to be desired in his interpretation of Dr. Sonntag, the high-handed, domineering, and surly German.

Pomeroy, played by Daniel McLaughlin, a man's man, gave us many laughs; he was a sound character.

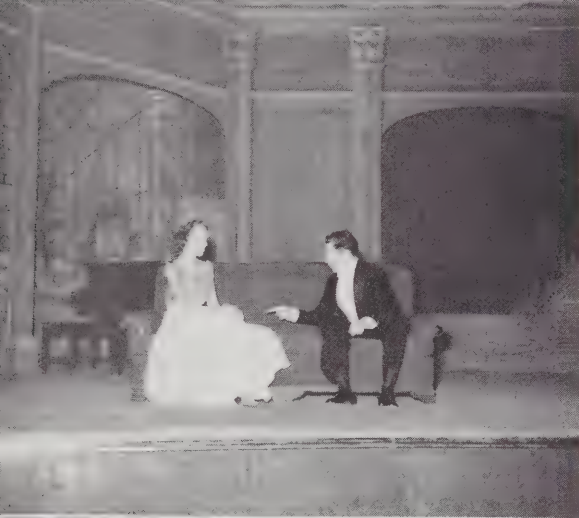

Regina O'Hearne and Stella Forti regaled their audiences as Kittie Dupuy and her over-mothered daughter, Bessie. The former's gushing laughter and the latter's naïvete were particularly enjoyable, highlighting two fast-moving characters.

John Casey, as Rowlands, gave us a very sound interpretation of the ubiquitous editorial writer.

Kenneth Henderson, as the successful business magnate, who gave our hero his chance to shine, did a very convincing job. Abraham Nathan was a fine role.

John Whittemore, as Mr. Stanlaw, prominent business executive, especially fitted his character.

The labor delegation comprising James Fallon, Jerry Morelli, and Edward Sullivan made an impressive group which presented its demands in an adamant manner and was influenced cleverly to give the scheme a try.

Play

Corinne's society suitors, played by Bernard Warren, Robert Myers, and John Kennedy filled the roles very adequately.

Charming was Claire Murray as Mrs. Fitzmorris, guest of the Stanlaws. Michael Hovsepian, her husband, mingled easily with the guests.

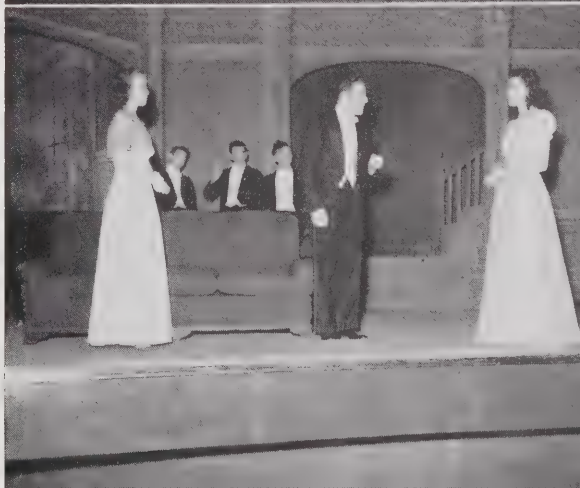

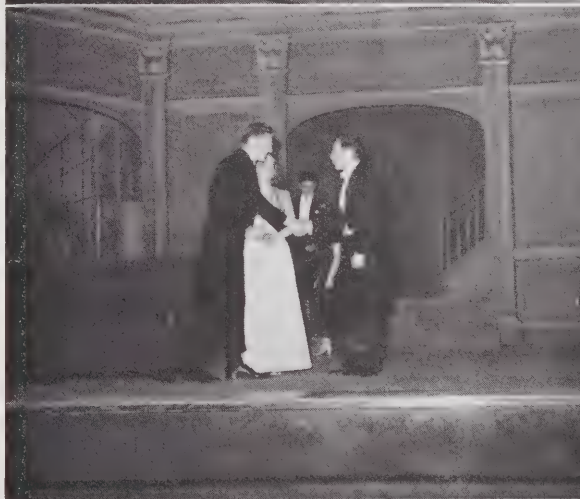

Other of the supporting cast who did an excellent piece of work in their parts were Louise Cutler, the correct butler; Virginia Maxwell, the most efficient secretary; Francis Bandini, the private secretary to Nathan, and Frank Huber, the irascible business executive.

The reception room in Act II was especially attractive because of the movement, conversation, and presence of the guests.

The Class of 1941 can be proud indeed of its production this year. It was a great success.

SUCCESS AND MONEY

We all, of course, desire to be successful. Because of the great emphasis laid on material gain, on the theory of "rising to the top," we unconsciously associate the word "success" with the term "money." There are many who firmly believe that a man's success is measured by his earning power, by what he is worth to his employer in cold cash. I wish to prove that money is by no means the standard for valuing a man's success.

Channing Pollock, a widely known author and writer, treats this subject in his essay, "Is Money the Measure of Success?" He challenges the materialist who maintains that money is the true basis of judgment. He supports his point of view with examples. "Which," he asks, "is to be considered the greater musician, Irving Berlin, the well-paid writer of popular songs, or Schubert, the composer of musical classics? Which poet represents the greater success, the poor but brilliant Schiller, or Edgar Guest, the poet of radio fame? In his whole life, the great master Schubert did not earn as much as Irving Berlin has earned in a month, or the poet Schiller as much as Edgar Guest. But Irving Berlin and Edgar Guest would be the last to call themselves more successful than Schubert or Schiller." Furthermore, Mr. Pollock, who is himself a highly paid speaker, draws a personal comparison. "Once I saw a letter in which Ralph Waldo Emerson agreed to lecture for five dollars and a feed of oats for his horse. Can I delude myself that I am a better lecturer than Emerson because my fee is higher?"

Although we may agree with Pollock that in the comparison of Schubert with Irving Berlin, and Schiller with Edgar Guest, money is no measure of success, the question arises in our minds, "If money is not a standard, what is the standard by which to measure success?"

The story is told of the friendly conversation between two gentlemen as they walked down the street. Both of them had passed their fifties, but here their similarity abruptly ended. One was well dressed in a fine, tailored suit, whereas his friend's suit was in distinct contrast. It was of that blue serge material that shines when worn, and this particular suit practically glittered in the bright sun. As the two men were to go their separate ways, the well dressed man said to his friend, "Now that your two sons are all through school and things are easier sledding, you ought to be good to yourself. Why don't you treat yourself? You know, Harry, you're not as young as you used to be."

Harry answered almost apologetically, "That's just it. I'm not getting any younger. The fact is I'm holding an awful lot of insurance right now, so that Mary and the boys will be taken care of if anything should happen to me."

Certainly we can not consider such a man a failure. We cannot call this man a failure because he did not possess a bank roll. He was striving not to amass money but to provide security for his family after his death. Therefore he made sacrifices. It is by this self-denial that he made a success of himself. From this analogy we can say that the willingness to sacrifice is one means for measuring success.

Class Oration

What are some of the other standards for judgment? Let us consider an everyday experience from which we may draw further conclusions concerning the elements of success.

Recently in Boston a once prosperous firm collapsed. The two partners in the business have lost all their possessions, homes, saving, —everything. One of the partners went into bankruptcy and escaped responsibility; the other man is working. He has started at the bottom and with a meagre salary is now slowly paying off the huge deficit, a deficit so large that it will take him at least fifteen years to pay the total sum. In the face of failure, by his honesty and recognition of his responsibility, he has become a success.

These qualities of sacrifice, honesty, recognition of responsibility, that we have seen exemplified, when combined with the often repeated virtues such as courage, determination, truthfulness, perseverance, all add up to spell the familiar word . . . character. A strong character then, is the standard by which to measure success.

The value of character in facing difficulties has been accepted by us for years. But we, the Class of 1941, have a problem that no class in the history of our nation has ever had to face. I refer to the recently organized peace time draft. It has caused a current of unrest on the part of many high school Seniors and uncertainty with respect to their future jobs. This pessimism is expressed in such a remark as this: "I should worry. I'll eventually be drafted and my troubles will be taken care of." Perhaps this attitude is what caused one young draftee to say with discouragement, "What chance have I to be a success in the army! Private Jones . . . what a success!"

Two draftees entered the army on the same day. Both had had all their carefully laid plans sadly disrupted. One was completely disgusted with life in general and sat back to pass the year's training without interest. "What's the use?" was his attitude. The second man was equally discouraged by his lot, but he was not beaten. He kept his eyes open, looking for a chance to learn something worthwhile. He was not long in seeing an opportunity. The army needed stenographers. After eight weeks of intensive study with the help of the only male stenographer in the camp, this young man mastered the theory of shorthand. Soon, because of his ability to take letters, he was not only one of the most valuable men in his company but he also had developed a skill that he could use all his life.

What this second man did was not half as important as how he tackled his problem. In spite of his interrupted hopes, this draftee had met his new assignment with determination to put the year to advantage. His character was the measure of his success in the army. Not every draftee can be a stenographer, but he can accept his luck with the idea of learning, and of making the most of his situation. If he does this, he will be a success.

It is not safe to judge a man's success by what he is earning. Success can not be measured in dollars and cents, only by character.—David B. Johnston

Ivy Oration

Classmates, behold our sturdy little Parechites Thunbergii!

This morning while our historians chronicled the major achievements of our class and sang of the deeds of our heroes, we listened with pride and joy, for gradually we realized that the last three years have been in the nature of a Utopia. Standing here in this last informal assembly of our class, we perceive that memory has played a trick upon us. Gone are the annoyances which even the most fortunate of us have experienced upon occasion! Forgotten are the struggles with bulging lockers! Forgotten are the penalties for tardiness to class! Behind us is that heart-rending experience of reaching the threshold of our home room just as the last bell stops ringing! A thing of the past are the interminable hours of home work! the humiliation of a failure in a test! How trivial seem such matters now, as we review them. This is the time for sentiment.

Recalling the happy days and worthy accomplishments, we consider it fitting that we leave a symbol of our energetic class. Since not one of us would gladly consent to remain as a representative of the illustrious "1941," we shall resort to the time-honored custom of planting a class ivy.

This little Hedera Helix is no greener than we were when as sophomores we first trod these grounds; indeed, it is no greener than we shall appear to the employers or college professors under whom we shall be working in the coming months.

Ivy Oration

But courage, my friends! This tender plant, set down in common soil, will deepen in tone and develop hardily, even with indifferent care. Whether it is warmed by sun or cooled by shade, whether or not it is coddled by our class officers (who may be too busy to return and tend our ivy), it will send out its shoots and thrive. Like the ivy we, too, shall begin our careers under circumstances which may not be favorable, which may not be all we desire. And similarly, it is possible for us to make a satisfactory adjustment.

These are not days when we can wait around for life to hand us a glorious destiny; these are not days when we can step out of school into the "dream job" of all time. But does that matter? No position we take will have boundaries. We shall be as free as the ivy to reach out, developing our imagination and using our energies to the fullest extent. Let us concentrate on each task which presents itself, however humble it may appear. Let us adapt ourselves to our new surroundings, whatever they may prove to be. For the first time we shall have associates who are not bound to us by ties of affection, comradeship, and personal interest. Whatever we may accomplish in this new and impersonal relationship will, therefore, come as the result of our own struggle, self-reliance, and true merit. In this we shall find a certain exhilaration such as we perhaps have never experienced before.

We know that this plant in its upward climb will cling firmly to the wall. In taking a lesson from the ivy, let us not be misled by such a tendency, for, after all, we are not hot-house plants. We shall find our only genuine support in our "robustness of character." Our only security in life will lie in our courage, in our acceptance of responsibility, and in our steadfastness of purpose.

CHEER LEADERS

M - CLUB

The M-Club's activities were not numerous during 1940-1941. A banquet tendered to the football team took the place of the annual show. Members of the team received gold and silver footballs. Cups were presented to members of the squad. They were given to the following: Paul Murphy, playing under a handicap; Tilo Margarita, running guard; Albert Greaves, most improved player over a period of three years; Harold Mahoney, best offensive backfield player; Charles Edgerly, best spirit.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Girls' Athletic Association, which was organized in 1934 to encourage athletics among the girls, has completed another prosperous year of promoting not only sports but also friendship among its members.

The officers were President, Dorothy King Vice President, Betty Lordan; Secretary, Dorothy Connell; Treasurer, Jean Frazier; Advisers, Miss Elizabeth Neilson and Miss Myra Luce.

The G. A. A. boasts of many successful highlights this year. The activities were opened with a recreational meeting of all the new and old members.

In November the G. A. A. sponsored a sport dance in the boys' gym, which proved a social success. Also in November a social was held for the girls' mothers, at which time a demonstration of the Modern Dance was presented by the Dance Group, as well as a demonstration of badminton, deck tennis, and volley ball. The G. A. A. Social Committee assisted with their gracious services.

The February meeting consisted of a theatre party at the matinee performance of "Fantasia."

In March a successful skating party was held at the Mystic Skating Rink.

In May the G. A. A. was brought to a delightful close with its second annual banquet and social at a prominent beach resort.

FOOTBALL

The football season of 1940 was marked by many unfortunate incidents. Early in the training season Co-captain Paul Murphy fractured his right arm in scrimmage. Thereafter, a succession of injuries deprived Coach O'Connor of his key operatives until the Brockton game. Following two games of freedom from injuries the team ran into more ill fortune. In rapid succession, Edgerly, Co-captain Tilo Margarita, Cannava, Russ Murphy, Greaves, Bonney, Nestor, Zucco and Wood joined the hospital lists. However, a strong eleven answered the opening whistle for the Malden game, traditional objective of the season. Refusing to give in to the jinx which was hounding them, the boys carried on valiantly, and played excellent games with one exception. They deserve a great deal of credit for their stout-heartedness in the face of adversity.

Worcester Trade 6

Medford 0

The visitors in the opening game were the team which last season had conquered State Champion Brockton. They had a powerful aggregation, but their running game was nullified by a spirited Medford line. A long pass to the two-yard line and the consequent plunge gave Worcester Trade the only score of the game. Although Medford rushed the ball all over the field, it could not score.

the touchdowns, with Chuck kicking the point after. To pick out one outstanding man was impossible, for the team played as a well-oiled unit.

Melrose 7

Medford 6

Again playing without Co-captain Murphy, but with Tilo Margarita in the backfield and at center, the Mustangs went down to defeat by the closest of margins, yielding to Melrose only by the point after touchdown. A drive of 72 yards gave Melrose her score. Medford's came on a sustained march of 52 yards immediately after the opening kickoff in the second half. In this one march the Mustangs showed that there was latent power, if the full team could be assembled. Two chances to score were missed.

Medford 18

Somerville 0

The much publicized jinx was on hand, but had no part in the terrific beating that Medford handed to its ancient rival, for the victors had three touchdowns which they lost by careless lapses. One was the result of a 104-yard run by Chuck Edgerly. This was nullified by a needless clipping infraction. After a scoreless first half, the Mustangs opened their bag of tricks and pounded out three scores. Again, Mahoney and Edgerly were the scorers. At guard Margarita and Greaves were spectacular. Russ Murphy was a tower of strength at tackle.

Lynn English 12

Medford 7

This game was the turning point in the season for the Mustangs. After leading in the first half, they surrendered the lead to the visitors. A fumble on the lip of the goal line prevented the Blue and White from scoring another touchdown. Near the close of the first half the Mustangs lost their halfback Edgerly, who remained out of the lineup until the final game against Malden. Medford's score was made by Bud Mahoney.

Later in the season it was found that a member of the Lynn English team was ineligible; therefore, all its games were declared forfeited, 1-0.

Brockton 0

For the first time in 23 games the mighty Brockton juggernaut met defeat. Co-captain Murphy started his first game of the season, and the team was at full strength with all men playing in their regular positions. Completely overpowering the former State Champs, the Mustangs marched to two touchdowns and were on their way to a third when the final whistle sounded. Edgerly and Mahoney scored

Everett 14

Medford 0

Inasmuch as the last Everett touchdown was scored against the second team, the score does not indicate the close game which the two teams played. For three periods and a half the two teams battled on even terms. A pass in the first few minutes had accounted for an early Everett score. In the last five minutes Everett scored a safety and another touchdown to put the game beyond the reach of Medford.

Newton 7

Medford 6

In spite of a deluge which made the Newton field a quagmire, Medford travelled to Newton to do battle. With a 6-0 lead two minutes before the game ended, the Medfords allowed a lineman to break through and block a kick. Recovering on the 12-yard line, Newton drove to a touchdown. In the pouring rain the Newton kicker put the ball squarely between the up-rights for the winning point. Bud Mahoney scored Medford's lone touchdown. Davis, Cervone, Greaves, and Giannelli played stellar roles for the Mustangs.

Waltham 14

Medford 13

Again in the waning moments Medford lost the lead and the ball game. This time an intercepted pass and a consequent 50-yard run scored the winning markers for the visitors. Bud Mahoney was the big gun in the Medford scoring department, making all 13 points.

Arlington 28

Medford 7

The Mustangs here made their worst showing of the year when they presented Arlington with 21 points in the first ten minutes of play. From then on the play resolved itself into a fairly good game. Substitutes who went into the game after it had been lost showed to good advantage. Tommie Miller won himself a starting position in the Malden game by his passing and running. Bud Mahoney scored the lone Medford touchdown.

Medford 14

Malden 6

After waiting twelve years Medford defeated the Malden team on Thanksgiving morning in as thrilling a game as the classic has seen. Malden started by scoring on a 75-yard run on the first play of the game from scrimmage. From then on, except for an intercepted pass on Medford's 23-yard line, the game was entirely of a blue and white hue. The half ended with Malden leading 6-0.

After Medford had thrown Malden back a total of 20 yards on three rushes, the boys really went to work. They smashed the tackles, disdaining the aerial route. Cannava crashed over for the first score as the fourth quarter opened. The extra point was added by rushing. Cannava contributed a 42-yard run to put Medford in position for its second touchdown which Bud Mahoney scored. The point after was also added via the rush route. Especially timely was Edgerly's interception of a Malden pass in the fourth quarter on the Medford 15-yard line.

As in the Brockton game, the entire team played as a coordinated unit. No men stood out, for every position had a capable operative. Sophomore Tommie Miller played his first entire game and did a good job at halfback.

In the Greater Boston Soccer League, of which Medford High is a member, Medford won 4, lost 4, and tied 2 games, finishing in a tie for third place.

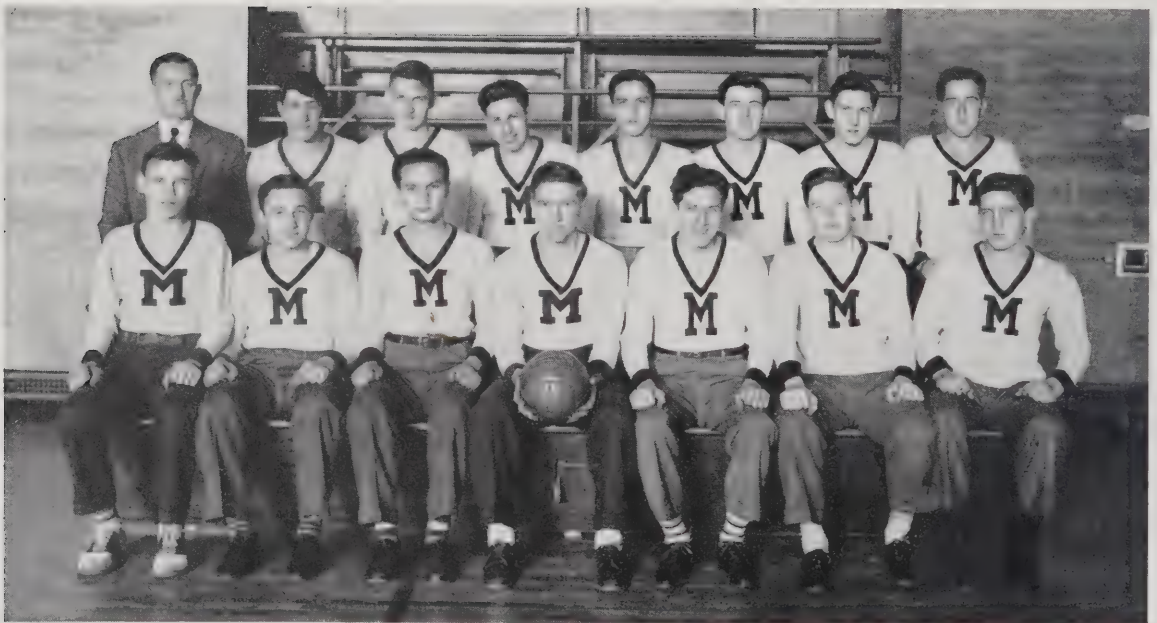

Watertown won the league title.

Because of ineligibility rulings, the team had to play the entire season without the services of two regulars of last year.

Outside of the league, games were played with Tufts Freshmen and New Bedford Vocational School.

Six lettermen are returning as a nucleus for next year's team.

Approximately fifty boys were carried on the squad.

After opening its season of fourteen games with an impressive 6-1 defeat of Belmont, the hockey team during the next several games seemed to be pursued by a hard luck jinx which enabled several inferior teams to eke out victories in games that might easily have resulted in Medford's favor.

Typical of such games were the two 1-0 losses to Cambridge Latin and Newton, the 2-2 tie with Stoneham, and the 4-2 loss to Melrose on New Year's Day, when three of their four goals were of the highly tainted specie.

With the start of the second half of the schedule, the Medford team seemed to attain suddenly the proficiency it had so often narrowly missed attaining, during the first half of the schedule.

Featuring this second half surge were the 2–0 defeat of the strong Rindge team, beaten previously by Melrose alone; the 7–2 route of Newton, a team which had lost only to Melrose and Rindge; and the 1–0 victory over Arlington, which in its game the previous week had defeated the champion Melrose team.

Indicative of the strength shown by the Medford team in its late season games was the selection of five of its members on the all scholastic team annually chosen by the coaches of the Greater Boston League. The boys honored in this selection were Captain Dave Cuning, Albie Greaves, and Frank Tuminelli of the Class of 1941, and Hubie Davis and Joe Riley of the Class of 1942.

Brooks. The team, whose captain was Remo Vinci, '41, and whose Manager was William Beecy, '41, wound up its season in the Greater Boston League in fourth place.

SKI CLUB

The Ski Club is an organization for boys and girls interested in learning to ski and to improve their skill in this sport. Under the capable instructions of Mr. Reid of the Vocational School, the Club has enjoyed many exciting competitions. The girls' and boys' duo meets with Arlington and Melrose provided much pleasure to the enthusiasts. Thirty-eight of our seventy-five members participated in the colorful Mt. Hood Carnival, making an excellent showing by finishing second. Because of favorable weather this year, the members had twenty-seven days of actual skiing at the Brooks Estate.

The officers were President, Thomas Sweeney; Vice President, Warren Dumas; Secretary-Treasurer, Mary Ann March; Adviser, Mr. Reid.

There has been marked improvement in the development of skiing, and a brighter future filled with greater accomplishments is expected in the years to come.

The official women's softball rules were adopted in the spring of 1940, and games were played with Winchester, Somerville, and Woburn. Anne Trevor was captain and pitcher, and Barbara Jeffries was the outstanding heavy hitter.

Over forty girls reported for the first practice in the spring of 1941 when there was keen competition for positions on the team; five candidates tried for the position of pitcher. Frances MacNeil was the Senior candidate.

Other Seniors reporting for the first practice were Miriam Stedfast, Jean Nyman, June Luther, Marie Petroski, Dorothy Kirwan, Mae Murray, Elva Smith, Anna Corbett, Anna Fitzmaurice, Lois Schiebler, Marguerite Emery, Catherine McCarthy, and Catherine Hamilton.

The schedule included games with Revere, Somerville, Winchester, and Woburn.

GIRLS' VARSITY TENNIS

The Tennis squad, which is picked from the intermediate group under the direction of Miss Myra Luce, consists of a group of girls who represent the outstanding tennis players in the school.

The officers were: Captain, Ruth Hall; Manager, Betty Lordan; Coach, Elizabeth A. Neilson.

Since tennis is one of the few activities which can be enjoyed long after a student leaves school, great care is given toward the development of the skill necessary to acquire the ability to play a good game.

The winners of an elimination tournament at the end of the season were guests at Newton High School for varsity competition.

Ruth Hall was an active and capable leader of our Girls' Tennis Squad and Betty Lordan assumed the duties of Manager in an efficient manner.

The senior members included Betty Lordan, Jean Dewar, Ann Russo, Margaret King, Dorothy King, Anna Syarse, Mary Crowley, Ruth Lovering, and Norma Roberts.

During the exhilarating fall days and warm summer months a group of girls enjoyed horse-back riding at the Pine Banks Riding School in Melrose.

This type of an activity is offered in order to allow the girls to participate in an individual sport. It enables them to become familiar with a sport which can be continued in their leisure time after school closes. It also presents physical and social pleasure to those who do not care to participate in team activities.

The senior members of the riding squad are June Ducloe, Helen Coughlin, Joyce McLellan, Alice McCabe, Phyllis Hon, Rose Malamphy, Eleanor Goggin, Rita LaFreniere, Ellen Hayes, Dorothy King, Betty Prescott.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Cabinet is made up of all presidents of recognized clubs of the school, the Senior Class officers, and presidents of both the Junior and Sophomore Classes. The Cabinet's chief duty is to act upon bills submitted by the House of Delegates, then to place these bills before Mr. Kendall. Various projects in connection with general activities are undertaken also.

The officers were President, Robert Kirkland; Vice President, Kathleen Murphy; Secretary, Pauline McCarty.

In addition, we presented an assembly explaining student government to the Sophomores and Juniors. We continued the Medford High School Graduation Club, a plan to help the students to save money in order to defray expenses at graduation time. Approximately twenty-six hundred dollars was paid out this year to the Seniors. Also, through popular demand, a Dramatic Club was formed. Very fine work is being done under the able guidance of Dr. O'Connell.

The Cabinet was represented at the convention of student governments in eastern Massachusetts in Reading and is looking forward to the forthcoming National Convention. The Cabinet operated with the assistance of its adviser, Miss, M. G. Roughsedge.

The House of Delegates, as in previous years, was the group in which the thoughts of the student body were expressed through the able members elected by the popular votes of the individual homerooms.

The officers of 1940-41 were President, William Barter Vice President, Marguerite Carell; Secretary, Claire Blinn; Faculty Advisers, Mr. Pidgeon, Miss Webber, and Miss Flanagan.

During this session, the final action was taken on the Public Address System, which was installed in the lunch room for the enjoyment of the student body and faculty. The System was financed by a series of successful afternoon dances under the auspices of the House of Delegates.

Upon the request of a faculty committee, the members of the House assisted in the drive for more courteous students.

The members acted as ticket agents for school activities; for example, the senior class play.

Throughout the session, Delegates were sent from the body to represent Medford High School at district and state Student Council Conventions, where valuable information was acquired for the betterment of the school.

All members cooperated to their utmost with the board to which they had been elected.

During the year 1940–1941 the Protective Department has been very successful under its adviser, Mr. Pidgeon.

This department has consisted of more than one hundred members, who were assigned to posts throughout the building during school hours. It was their duty to assist strangers and teachers, to watch lockers, and to keep the corridors clean.

The following students were the captains, who supervised the “P. D.’s”: Kathleen Murphy, Phyllis Pennucci, Betty Hebard, Marguerite Carell.

This year the “P. D.’s” were recognized by white buttons bearing in blue the year and individual numbers.

May the Protective Department remain as cooperative and as successful in the future as it did during 1940–1941!

ORCHESTRA

The orchestra, although not quite so spectacular as the band, does its share of real hard music study and has equally fine talent among its members. This group now has a substantial increase in the quantity and quality of the various sections, and at the Senior Class Play rendered beautiful selections to complete the excellence of that production. As usual, the orchestra gave a very worthwhile concert program about the last of March. It played for Class Day exercises and other student activities.

During 1940-41 the Medford High School Band again carried out a program of providing good music for the students of the school at all events. This organization, under its inspiring leader, Mr. Ralph D. Schoonmaker, played at the football games, including the victory over Malden. Later, in the midst of intensive preparations for the annual contests, the band presented a well-received concert which made possible some new instruments. The most outstanding event of the year was the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs Concert at which our own group was the first high school band ever to accompany this magnificent chorus of five hundred male voices. In addition to parading on April 19 and May 30, these young musicians played at the various contests, as well as for Graduation and Class Day exercises.

The Medford High School Girls' Club has enjoyed a very successful seventh year. Mary J. Crowley, chairman of the program committee, arranged a varied and interesting group of meetings for which the girls are most appreciative.

The officers were: President, Claire Murray; Vice President, Dorothy King; Recording Secretary, Jean Dewar; Corresponding Secretary, Collette Dunbar; Treasurer, Norma Roberts.

Early in the fall the girls held a tea for their mothers in the assembly hall. They inducted two new members so that their parents might realize the beauty of this service. At Christmas they entertained a group of small children at a party. Each happy child received a gift from Santa Claus. On Valentine's Day, the members and their escorts enjoyed a novel dance amid red and white decorations. Then in the spring the girls celebrated with a banquet at the Belmont Country Club where new members were inducted for the following year, and John Ward, well known lecturer, presented his colored moving pictures. This final party is always the favorite meeting of the year, but also the saddest for Seniors who must graduate and say fare well to active membership in the club.

M. H. S. GIRLS' CLUB

BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB

The Business Girls' Club of the Medford High School has successfully completed its fourth year as an organization to stimulate higher ideals of business education and social procedure among Senior girls enrolled in business courses.

The officers for the year 1940-1941: President, Pauline McCarty; Vice President, Ruth Lister; Recording Secretary, Eva Avallone; Corresponding Secretary, Marie Bruno; Treasurer, Stella Forti.

At a special installation meeting in May, Junior girls were admitted to the Club. The new members have elected officers and planned a tentative program for next year in order to be ready to begin the work immediately in their senior year.

Following the precedent set by the first Business Girls' Club, Christmas time became its busiest season. Again this year, the girls worked to provide gifts for Medford's underprivileged children. As a result, they provided and dressed forty-five dolls and supplied many other gifts of toys and clothing, adding to the Christmas joy of about seventy-five children.

In addition to its Christmas project the Business Girls' Club has had several speakers from local business schools who discussed with them such subjects as "Proper Dress for the Office Worker" and "Personality in Business." A trip to the Harvard Museum resulted in a particularly pleasant and profitable afternoon. At the installation meeting, the Senior members entertained their successors with a style show emphasizing the right and wrong way for a girl to dress for business.

This year's members have done their share toward making the Business Girls' Club of the Medford High School an active and permanent organization.

The M. H. S. Technical Club, with sixty-six members, has enjoyed a successful program in the third year of its history.

The officers were President, Thompson Irwin; Vice President, Fritz Sabbou; Secretary, Earl Patterson; Treasurer, Francis Doherty; Faculty Adviser, Charles H. Rogers.

Activities have included several interesting speakers, motion picture showings, and trips to factories. Among the speakers were representatives from the J. W. Greer Company, manufacturers of baking and candy machinery, the Merrimac Chemical Company, the Simplex Wire and Cable Company, and the Watertown Arsenal. Motion pictures from the General Electric Company, the DuPont Chemical Company, and the New England Telephone Company were shown.

Early in the year a mathematical treasure hunt was staged, in which the entire club participated. The three club members who finished first received suitable prizes.

In May an inspection visit was made to the plant of the Dry Ice Corporation in Cambridge.

The annual banquet was held in May with a large attendance of members and alumni.

Although the Medford High School Dramatic Club was organized only this February, the activities planned have been numerous enough to compel each member to take an active part.

The three plays presented were Green Eyes from Romany, Singapore Spider, and The Mad Breakfast.

Upon invitation from the Arlington High School Dramatic Club, several of our members attended What a Life, a comedy in three acts performed by the group at Robbins Memorial Hall.

We are proud to say that many of our members had leading parts in this year's Senior Play, A Tailor-Made Man, and that still others planned to participate in the contest for a $1200 scholarship to the Staley College of the Spoken Word.

For our progress we owe our thanks to Dr. John T. O'Connell, from whom the Dramatic Club has sought and received excellent guidance.

STAMP CLUB

The Stamp Club, with Miss Adams as adviser, was organized five years ago. Its objective was to further the love of stamp collecting and to facilitate the exchanging of stamps among club-members.

The officers were President, Leslie Morash; Vice President, Donald Crowther; Secretary, Rita LaFreniere; Treasurer, John Matthews.

The first club activity was a Question Box, at which questions pertaining to the fundamentals of philately were asked. This tended to draw the new members closer together. Next was a stamp auction at which an excellent opportunity was afforded club members to increase their collections. The officers at various meetings lectured on recent sets of United States stamps. An exhibition, at which prizes were awarded for the most unusual exhibit, concluded the club year.

This club fosters a spirit of friendliness, and, although extra-curricular, is educational and beneficial to all who participate.

All girls in the department are eligible for membership in our Home Economics Club. This year we met once a week in the household management room. We knit sweaters, made baby blankets, dresses, suits, night gowns and pajamas for children in the devastated areas of Europe. At Christmas we held a dance party, and with the proceeds we bought food for several needy families. The second dance, a Valentine one, was a great success, both socially and financially. This club was founded for the purpose of making new friends in the Home Economics Department and also for service in the school and the community.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club is composed of pupils who are interested in photography. The Club, which meets bi-monthly in Room 203, is under the supervision of Mr. Horwood, its faculty adviser. Although it is customary for the club to participate in various contests throughout the year, it has not done so this past year, as the members have been obtaining the proper equipment for their dark room, now ready for use. During the year, the members have been fortunate in obtaining discounts on photographic equipment on the presentation of their membership cards. Among other activities, the camera club furnishes The Review with pictures submitted by its members. At the meetings, the club has enjoyed many speakers. The members have also secured pins this year. The club welcomes any new members who are interested in work of this nature.

The officers were President, Priscilla Hearne, '41; Vice President, Betty Prescott, '41; Secretary and Treasurer, Irene Ewins, '41.

The History Club, organized in 1938, has completed another successful year under the able leadership of our president, Albert Fisher.

The officers were President, Albert Fisher; Vice President, Phyllis Foti; Secretary, Dorothy King; Treasurer, Edward Saunders; Faculty Adviser, Miss Florence Kelly.

The meetings were held twice a month, and the club has had many interesting and instructive meetings. Among these were two members of the Medford High School faculty. Mr. Osgood and Mr. Gisl, who gave interesting lectures on European travels.

A former pupil of Medford High, Mr. Durkee, and Mr. Whitney of Tufts gave an interesting account of the current European affairs.

The club had the privilege of enjoying moving pictures under the supervision of Mr. Reid.

We extend our sincere appreciation to Miss Kelly, our faculty adviser.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

It is the aim of the Vocational School to fit boys for useful employment through the development of the occupational skill required for the performance of satisfactory work under actual employment conditions in the following trades: automobile, cabinet making, electricity, machine shop, painting and decorating, printing, and sheet metal.

One half of the time is devoted to actual shop work and the other half to related and academic work. The laboratory method of instruction which is used in the related classes is very closely correlated with the shop work. This close tie-up assures a thorough training in shop and technical information.

The school attempts to prepare the boy morally, intellectually, and physically for the vocation for which he seems to be best fitted by nature, ability, and opportunity; at the completion of his course the school places the student in the industry trained for, keeps in touch with his progress, and encourages his promotion.

Appreciation

To Miss Lyons . . .

who has contributed so much time and energy to the Blue and White, is largely responsible for its success. Never too busy or tired to discuss matters with the staff, she has been a source of instructive advice and inspiration to all who work with her. Thank you, Miss Lyons, for your patience and help in every instance.

Also Our Gratitude . . .

To Miss Dole for her tireless work in proofreading, to Miss Daggett and the "Biography Girls" for the long hours spent in search of suitable tributes to each member of the Senior class, to Mr. Pidgeon for his excellent management of group pictures, and to Mr. Noble for his careful checking on individual pictures we extend our sincere thanks. These people who have donated so much time and energy to the Blue and White deserve our whole-hearted praise, for they are largely responsible for the success of the Yearbook.
